Brad,

Can you set up a call? We have worked together at Katrina and BP and I believe you know how data management during these responses works.

Pulling a key member of the R8 Data Team right now even for a few days will grind my work to a stop. Have you seen the media coverage about EPA not releasing data?

I approved a deployment pattern days ago. We need this resolved.

Dave,

I hear that you are deploying all of your qualified data managers to the field. This leaves me with no support back in Denver at the REOC and threatens the entire process we have in place to release data to EPA's Administrator in HQs and the public.

This is completely unacceptable and we need to talk about this immediately in the morning. The process is still rocky and I cannot do this without proper support.

Let me know how far we need to elevate this. I expect to talk to you first thing in the morning. At this time I will either need to know that one of them will be here or you will need to provide me with the qualifications of someone who will.

Marty
